After a thousand years, SolKhat and MinsKhat came to check the earth once more. And decided that the Human race had become to greedy with money so they said “If Greed is what you lust for instead of the Gods! Then drown and restart we must!”

1:1

Straight after they said that they concluded that the earth with the Humans must perish under volcanic ashes, so they made the thousands of mountains erupt with lava and magma to end the human race and restart once more.

1:2

They started to slowly remove the ashes to find the remains of the race before, then they used the remains as blueprints for a new race that would be with less sin.

1:3

Now that the race was replaced they said to the farmers of the world “If your harvest fails, Pray to the sun for the weather to be good once more, and to the moon for the soil to be great once more, then if you are without sin we will spare your crops and let them grow”
